The pressure relieving positioning cushion

Product description

The All Up Halv Charlie Positioning Cushion is a single-patient positioning cushion that ensures effective and even pressure distribution for supine users. Placed below and between the knees, the positioning cushion provides a stable and neutral positioning pattern and helps to ensure that the user remains comfortable in bed.

The positioning cushion helps to position the user with the 'Halv-Charlie' positioning method, which ensures that the hip and knee joints are in a resting position. The length of the positioning cushion also ensures pressure relief for the heels.

The positioning cushion can also be used for positioning in the neutral position (LIN).

The positioning cushion can be used alone or in combination with the Turn All kip system, where it, in combination with a slight knee bend and an elevated headboard (approx. 20-30 degrees), ensures an optimal pressure-relieving positioning.

Because the cushion is air-based, it follows the movement of the trunk system from side to side.

all up® is made from a non-woven film, which makes the cushion skin-friendly, moisture-absorbing, heat-transporting, soft, comfortable and elastic.
